WITH SUNBURNED FACES

THE FISHING PARTY RETURN TO WASHINGTON.

While Absent the Chief Magistrate Attended Strictly to Pleasure. The Outhwaite Bill Favorably Reported. Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The president, Postmaster General Dickinson and Col. D. S. Lamont arrived in Washington at 7 o'clock a. m. There was a small crowd of travelers in the station, but the president passed through almost unrecognized by the railroad officials. He and Col. Lamont were driven direct to the White House. They are both very much sunburned, the president's face, however, showing the most decided coloring. Col. Lamont said to an United Press reporter:

"We got in at 7 o'clock, having come from Fire Island with only one or two stops. The president went on board the Susquehanna Thursday night and did not leave her except to fish until Sunday night at 11 o'clock. These stories about his visits to various places on the route are untrue. He did not take a meal off the yacht, and there was no one of the party at any time except those who were with us when we left New York. We caught a lot of fish and had a splendid time all through. The president caught his share of the fish."

The Outhwaite Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Mr. Frye, from the select committee on Pacific railroads, reports favorably to the senate the Outhwaite bill, to refund the Union Pacific and Central Branch Union Pacific companies' debt. It is identical with the bill which has been unanimously reported by the committee on Pacific railroads in the house. Mr. Frye, in presenting it, said the committee found much greater difficulty in formulating an adjustment and settlement with the Central Pacific than with the Union Pacific, and is not yet ready to make any report touching that company.

Consuls Recognized.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The president has recognized Jose Francisco Gonzalez as consul of the United States of Mexico for Rio Grande City, Texas, and its dependencies, and Joaquin Ma Torroja, consul of Spain at Key West, Fla.

Senator Reagan's Pocket Picked.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Senator Reagan, of Texas, had his pocket picked of $100 last Friday night. The matter has been reported to the police, but no clue to the thief has yet been found.

NINE DAYS IN A WELL.

The Awful Experience of John Anderson, a Nebraska Well-Digger.

JOHNSTOWN, Neb., Aug. 1.—John Anderson, who was imprisoned in a well nine days and released Sunday, says that when the boards and sand closed in over him he was crowded into a box about two feet square and with not enough room for him to stand erect. He could not get on his knees or sit down, but had to stay in a crouching position during the whole of his imprisonment.

"About the first three days," said Anderson, "I got along very well, but after that I began to want water badly. The fourth day when it rained, I heard what I thought was water slowly dripping. Feeling around, I found it, and, holding my mouth open, I managed in this way to get about a dozen drops of water, which gave me much relief. I had no difficulty in breathing until the well came so near being filled by sand occasionally coming in, caused by the diggers above. I had breathed the air over so much that it had become impure, causing me to feel a smothering sensation, but about this time the rescuers got near enough to me to let in air from above."

"By having a good supply of chewing tobacco I did not suffer so much for food as might have been expected. From the beginning I could hear considerable that was said and done above. I heard the wagon when it started to town for lumber, and heard some one say, 'The man is dead,' and the order given to try to pull my box out. When they began to pull I knew there was great danger of the boards giving way and crushing me, and for my own safety, and to give evidence of being alive, I cut the ropes, and heard the exciting talk that prevailed when it was discovered that I was alive. It was music to me, and from that time on I was hopeful of being rescued."

"About the sixth day I felt something crawling upon my hand and found it to be a fly. I thought from this that an opening had been made from above. I was correct, for soon a wet rag was passed to me. In reaching it to me it became covered with sand, but no honey ever tasted better than that wet rag. Soon a bottle of water and a piece of bread were given me, and I was truly thankful."

"From this time on I began to gain strength, and by helping my rescuers the time passed quicker than one would suppose. When my feet, which are badly swollen, are better, and I dare eat a square meal, I will be all right."

Looks Better for the Commissioners.

STANDING ROCK AGENCY, Dak. Aug. 1.—Chairman Pratt, of the commission, having taken the military wire from the press, it will be necessary to send all reports by courier. The steady pressure policy has been adopted, and an effort is being made to swing a few of the chiefs into line for the treaty, and thus secure their influence among the Indians. While the Indians in their private council declare that their decision of Friday was final, there is an undercurrent among them which is encouraging to the commissioners, who still hope for success.

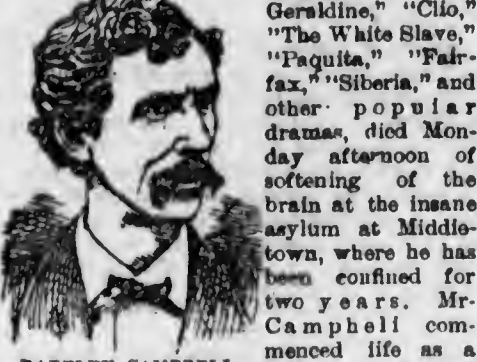

Reunions Which Sherman Will Attend.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—In reply to an invitation to attend the reunion of two Massachusetts regiments on September 2, Gen. Sherman says that he has come to the conclusion to attend only the following encampments this year: Grand Army of the Republic, at Columbus; Army of the Tennessee, at Toledo; and the Army of the Cumberland, at Chicago, all of which are to be held in September next. This, the general believes, composes a reasonable share of reunions for him.

A PLAYWRIGHT'S END.

Bartley Campbell, After Two Years in an Asylum, Dies.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Bartley Campbell, the well known playwright and author of "My Partner," "Clio," "The White Slave," "Paquita," "Siberia," and other popular dramas, died Monday afternoon of softening of the brain at the insane asylum at Middletown, where he has been confined for two years. Mr. Campbell commenced life as a lawyer, but forsook that profession for journalism. He worked at one time as a reporter on the Cincinnati Enquirer. He then drifted south, where he commenced his career as an author. Mr. Campbell was born in Allegheny City, Pa., August 14, 1843. He has made several fortunes out of his literary work, but he died without a penny. He leaves a wife and two sons.

BARTLEY CAMPBELL, lawyer, but forsook that profession for journalism.

Litigation is now in progress over his rights as manager in the Fourteenth Street theater, New York, and it is thought his widow will recover several thousand dollars. After he had gained fame through "My Partner" and the "Galley Slave" Campbell could not fill the demand upon him for plays. It is said his royalty on "My Partner" was $300,000, and he made lots of money out of "Siberia" and "The Galley Slave." The last named was successfully produced in Australia and Germany. Campbell took a company to England and produced "My Partner," but it did not draw, and the venture was a losing one financially. The friends of the unfortunate but brilliant playwright say that the blow which ended in insanity was caused by the failure of "Paquita," a play upon which he based his hopes, and to produce which in magnificent style he spent a mint of money. He took no care of himself, and his faculties gradually gave way, developing into softening of the brain, the malady which killed McCullough, the tragedian.

The fire of July 7 was in another section of the arsenal district. It broke out during the afternoon in four different localities, practically at the same instant. It seems to be more than a coincidence that the burned district should be the section occupied by the adherents of Gen. Manigat and Senator Legitime, who started the insurrectionary movement of May 17-20, and who have since been expelled. They were too dangerous for President Salomon to shoot, and he sent them off, but it is said that their petty adherents were crowded into the prison. It is believed that Salomon's own party fired that section to please him.

Fire at Mansfield, Ohio.

MANSFIELD, O., Aug. 1.—The new five-story building of P. Bissman & Company, wholesale grocers, and largest in the city, was gutted by fire at about 12 o'clock Monday night. The fire originated in the fifth story and is supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion. The fourth and fifth stories are a complete loss. The loss is variously estimated at from $100,000 to $120,000. Insurance on building, $15,000; on stock, $60,000. The firm had about $300,000 worth of goods on hand and did a business of $90,000 per month.

Southern Steamer Burned.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1.—The steamboat Edward J. Gay, belonging to the Planters' and Merchants' Packet company, of this city, took fire this morning and was burned to the water's edge. She was moored at the head of First street. The boat was valued at $40,000, and was insured, principally in foreign companies. TWO GOOD SHOTS.

Two West Virginia Old Maids Kill One Burglar and Wound Another.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 1.—Two maiden ladies, Maria and Viretta Reeves, living near Davisville, just above here, Monday night shot and killed one burglar, and mortally wounded and captured another. The encounter happened about midnight. One of the sisters saw a man in her room, seized a revolver, and fired, killing him. He was shot through the temple.

The other sister was awakened, seized a weapon and sprang on the other burglar as he was trying to escape through a window. He was too late as he fell to the ground with a bullet through his groin. Both burglars were strangers in these parts, but are supposed to be old timers.

The two heroic ladies are being lionized by the neighbors. They are generally supposed to keep a large sum of money in their house.

Struck a Snag.

ALTON, Ill., Aug. 1.—The steamer Judith struck a snag a few miles from this city Sunday afternoon, and sank in five minutes. The boat and cargo are a total loss. The crew and ten passengers escaped to shore in the steamer's yawl and saved most of their effects. The shipwrecked party spent Sunday night at a farm house, and several of them made their way to this city Monday. Capt. Hall staid at the scene of the wreck. The boat had on board 4,233 sacks of wheat, also a lot of cattle and hogs. The animals swam ashore and scattered through the woods. Soon after the accident the boat broke in two, and is a total wreck. The loss is about $20,000; partially insured.

An Ungrateful Trio.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 1.—A boat containing two men and a woman capsized at Chelsea Park Saturday night. H. F. Barton, of Chicago, at the risk of his life, jumped into the lake and pulled all the people out. The heroic young man was not even thanked and expressed his disgust by saying: "I spoiled a good suit of clothes, lost $2.10 in currency, injured my watch, broke my cane, and when that woman got her breath enough to speak, she turned to one of the men and said: 'John, this act of yours has spoiled my watch I fear. Young man, please let me pass.'"

$2,000,000 FIRE IN HAYTI.

THE CAPITAL, PORT AU PRINCE, SWEEPED BY FLAMES.

The Fires Believed to Have Been Started at the Request of President Salomon. Mansfield, Ohio, Has a Big Blaze—A Steamboat Burned—Other Fires.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Aug. 1.—The steamship Villaverde has brought full tidings of the great incendiary fires that have swept Port au Prince, the capital of Hayti, on the 4th and 7th inst. As reported previously, the fire commenced in the chambre des deputes on the afternoon of July 4, the balconies and outside passages upstairs having been set on fire.

From that point it hurried down to Rue d' Arsenal, sweeping away the equivalent of three squares or blocks of buildings. This fire destroyed a part of the city used largely for private residences. Among them were many valuable and imposing buildings. The first news received here reported the loss by the first fire at $3,000,000. It is now known that the fires of both dates destroyed some eight hundred and fifty buildings, and that the loss amounts to $2,000,000.

The fire of July 7 was in another section of the arsenal district. It broke out during the afternoon in four different localities, practically at the same instant.

It seems to be more than a coincidence that the burned district should be the section occupied by the adherents of Gen. A detective unraveled the scheme and the blushing maiden is in limbo.

WEDNESDAY EVEN'G, AUG. 1, 1888.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

To the Democrats of the Ninth Congressional District: I beg leave to submit to you my name in connection with the Democratic nomination for Congress from this district. I have no claims to urge over those of any other true Democrat, and make my announcement with some degree of timidity. I hope to make the primary contest in such a manner as not to create dissension or division in the ranks of the party, and, whether I lose or win the nomination, I propose to remain the same unflinching Democrat I have always been. Respectfully,
G. R. KELLAR.
Carlisle, Ky., July 17, 1888.

FOR CONSTABLE.

We are authorized to announce that W. L. MORAN is a candidate for Constable in Maysville precinct No. 2, at the election Monday, August 6, 1888. If he is elected, he will attend promptly and faithfully to the duties of the office.

We are authorized to announce GEO. W. COOK an independent candidate for Constable in the precinct No. 1 at August election 1888.

Notice to the County Democratic Executive Committee.

The members of the Democratic Executive Committee of Mason County are notified that a meeting of said committee will be held at the County Clerk's office Saturday, August 4th, at 2 p. m. Important meeting. THOS. J. CHENOWETH, Chairman Executive Committee.

EVERY Democrat who loves his party will turn out next Monday and cast his vote for its nominee for Sheriff. A full Democratic vote will insure an old-time majority.

We are informed by a member of the Harrison and Morton club that Mr. Forman was brought out for Sheriff by that organization. Certain it is, he is not the nominee of the Republican party. He seeks to gull the voters with the "independent racket," and is appealing every day to his Democratic friends for their support.

THE Republicans have no nominee for Sheriff, and none of them are in duty bound to support Mr. Forman. Mr. Alexander's many Republican friends will no doubt therefore take pleasure in honoring him with their support. He is worthy of any one's vote, and is certainly much better qualified for the position than Mr. Forman. Mr. Forman knows this as well as everybody else.

John W. Alexander, our next high Sheriff, was here last week, circulating among his many friends. This precinct will give him a rousing big vote.

Thomas P. Hopper is still poorly and is not expected to live. In fact, his death at any moment would not be a surprise. His sister, Mrs. Carpenter, of Fleming County, is at his bedside.

James Pollock and Isaac Woodward constituting one party, and Buck, Ed and Dr. Hal Dimmitt visited the Blue Licks last week. The latter party made a halt at Mayslick. They have all returned looking hale and hearty, evidence of the invigorating qualities of that famous spring.

The union Sunday school concert announced to be held Sunday evening came off at the M. E. Church, South. The house was crowded, a great many being turned away unable to obtain seats. Numbers came from Chatham, Brooksville and Bridgeville. The singing of the older ones, with whose voices we are familiar, was their usual artistic style, but that of the little girls was especially praised and complimented. The solos and duets rendered by little Misses Daisy Pollock, Fattie Eliou and Freddie Stiles were truly charming.

The two former as soprano and the latter as a contralto have voices that if properly cultivated will one day render them famous. Germantown has already sent forth a famous songstress in the person of Miss Mollie Johnston, who is astonishing the cities of Europe with her musical powers, while another in the person of Miss Sue Maggie Kackley is at Paris, France, in training and bids fair to eclipse all others. The voices of some of our little girls are pronounced by those who ought to know as superior to those mentioned when of the same age, and with the same opportunity would become equally famous. Our town is at present, we have to admit, under a very dark cloud in a moral point of view, but in its past history it has sent forth more famous men and women than any other town in the State. We have but little hope for the future as long as certain places send forth a constant stream of poison into our midst that pollutes the very air we breathe, blighting and destroying by its withering influence the fairest hopes and prospects of our people.

Like the mink that attaches itself to a rock in the bottom of the ocean reaches out its arms and fattens by sucking in every living thing that comes within its reach, or the deadly cancer that seats itself on the breast portion of the human frame, sends forth its roots into the surrounding tissue, and nature's beauty and loveliness becomes a sickening, deadly, loathsome mass of disease, so is this whiskey traffic attaching itself to our people and moral dignity of our people assert itself and rise superior to this withering curse?

WAGES AND WAGES.

Master Workman Hugh Cavanaugh of D. A. 48, K. of L., Has Something to Say of the Maysville Cotton Mills.

He Believes in Low Taxes and Talks of the "Cheap Labor of Europe."

The Cincinnati Telegram has been interviewing prominent people of the Queen City right and left in the past few days on the tariff question and the Mills bill. It has given many opinions on the subject, among the number that of Hugh Cavanaugh, Master Workman of District Association 48, Knights of Labor. Mr. Cavanaugh has visited Maysville on one or two occasions, and is well known here, especially among the laboring people. As he touches upon a matter that is being discussed considerably just now—the question of wages paid in the Maysville Cotton Mills—his reply to the Telegram is given in full. He said: "I believe in low taxes. As far as my trade is concerned I believe we can make shoes in the United States cheaper than anywhere under the sun. I went through the factory of Charles Felton, at Ashland, Mass., and made an estimate myself. They were making there two hundred and fifty dozen pairs of kid boots per day at a small fraction over 10 cents per pair. Of course it was all done by machinery. All this tariff question I consider a bugaboo to distract the attention of workmen from other things.

"Talk about your cheap labor of Europe. I was in Kentucky a short time ago and found men working at 65 cents a day on a farm in the southwest part of Boone County. I was in January's cotton factory in Maysville, Ky., and found grown men working for $4.80 cents a week—twelve hours a day. I asked a young fellow to sign his name and he said: 'Excuse me, I can not write.' I asked him other questions and he replied: 'I was born here. I am now twenty-two years old and I have worked in the factory since I was seven.' He was making $4.80, only, a week, was married and his wife was working in the factory. Of the two hundred hands in the factory there not five outside of the foreman were making $1.25 a day.

"Three men called on me about four weeks ago, brass workers, who had come to this country. They were seeking work and I told them brass workers here had struck for fifty-six hours a week, and I asked them how many hours they worked in the old country. One of them, a Scotchman from Edinburgh, said fifty-four, and the Irishman had worked fifty-six hours a week. They told me they earned from one pound ten to two pounds. That in our money would be from $7.50 to $10. They paid ten shillings for board, being as good as they had been getting here. Even if there had been no objection to their working here, their condition would have been very little better than in the old country. They had tramped half way across the continent and here was the first chance they had to get a job and they would have to take the bread and butter out of some other body's mouth. That was the way they put it. They had got what we were fighting for but could not get—fifty-six hours a week."

In addition to Mr. Cavanaugh's opinion of the Mills bill, the Telegram gave the following: "E. L. Hutchins, Secretary of the Workmen's Prohibition Club, said: I think the Mills bill will have a good effect. I am in favor of admitting free clothing, and all the necessities of life, and raw material, and of cutting down duties to the very lowest point that will raise the necessary revenue required to run the government.

"H. C. Traphagen, Acting Secretary District 48, K. of L.: I am not one of those who believe that high taxation is good for the people. I think low taxation beneficial. I can see that the rich people may readily be made richer by high protection."

A Card From Mr. Short.

To the Editor of the Bulletin: With your permission, I desire to state that it is not true that I have been circulating in the Lewisburg neighborhood, or anywhere else, the story referred to in your editorial of yesterday, headed "Unscrupulous Methods," nor have I made any statements which would justify the report that I have been giving circulation to any such story. Yours truly,
J. T. SHORT.

Father Conway's Estate.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The will of the late Father Conway, Vicar-General of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Chicago, was probated Monday. Father Conway's estate, largely life insurance, aggregated $15,000. Half of it is divided among charitable institutions and the remainder goes to his niece. Father Conway was known to thousands of Roman Catholics in various parts of the United States as a man of executive ability, learning and magnetism. He was made vicar-general in 1883. He was spoken of as a successor of Bishop Foley when he died, and there was much surprise a year ago that he was not appointed bishop of the newly created diocese of Springfield. The last sermons he ever preached were a series in opposition to Anarchy and Communism.

THE PAGODAS OF JAPAN.
Towers Which Control the Mystic Dragon of Wind and Water.

All the pagodas I saw in Japan were generally built in five stories, with very fine dark red woodwork and harmonious gray tiles, while beneath the shadow of each projecting roof are innumerable boldly carved dragons' heads peering from beneath the eaves and panels of fine wood carving between the stories. The summit is invariably crowned by an honorable symbol in metal, consisting of nine rings, disks or cupolas as the case may be, piled one above the other. On further examination we shall find that these things and these accumulated roofs are developments of the same original simple emblem.

With regard to the construction of these towers there are instances in which the pagoda is of solid masonry throughout, but far more frequently it consists of two towers, one within the other, and between them winds a spiral staircase which leads to the summit. In this case the inner tower is generally divided into as many rooms as there are stories, the lower floor forming the temple wherein is placed the relic shrine, which, in some cases, is a miniature pagoda, while the walls around are adorned with numerous images of Buddha.

In many cases we find a pagoda erected within the court of a Buddhist temple as the storehouse of its relics. The honor thus due to Buddha was extended to such of his priests as were most distinguished for their learning and devotion, so that in many cases pagodas were erected to contain the ashes saved from the funeral pyre.

In later times, however, this primary purpose seems to have been abandoned and many of the more recent pagodas are said to have been built on the ancient model, but solely with a view to geomantic influences, the tall towers being supposed to have some mysterious effect on that strange, undefinable thing which the mystic spirit of the dragon who rules over wind and water and who controls all human destinies. Several of the finest nine storied pagodas in the neighborhood of Canton have been erected solely for this purpose, in the belief that by their means lurking evils would be dispelled and the general peace and prosperity of the province insured.

Not only is the fertility of the fields thus provided for, but even the learning and general distinction of the citizens. Such a one was erected in the district of Sam-shuee in 1860 because the prosperity of the neighborhood had for some years been falling off and the candidates for secretary honors at the great examinations had been peculiarly unsuccessful. So a three storied pagoda was erected, each story consecrated to a different deity. The god of wealth (as controlling the very foundations of prosperity) occupied the ground floor, the god of peace the second floor, while the god of learning reigned in the top story.—English Illustrated Magazine.

TO SEARCH FOR STANLEY.

PREPARATIONS MAKING ON THE CONGO FOR AN EXPEDITION.

His Fate Continues to Disturb the Public Mind — Innumerable Theories — Italy Wants to Reopen Negotiations With France — Other Foreign News Notes.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Professor Jamieson, the naturalist, writes from Kasongo, on the Congo river, that he is making preparations to leave with Maj. Bartlett, Tippoo Tib and nine hundred men to search for Henry M. Stanley. He says all the Europeans in the expedition are well.

The fate of Stanley still continues to disturb the public mind, and the discussion concerning his whereabouts, if alive, has been prolific of innumerable theories.

The fact of Tippoo Tib's following Stanley, however, is held to enhance the probability of his death in the minds of the pessimists. Maj. Bartlett, commander of the camp at Annwili, and Professor Jamieson, the eminent naturalist, are known to be good men and entirely capable, under ordinary circumstances, of rendering invaluable assistance to Stanley, but it is feared by those who know Tippoo Tib well that that chief, at the head of a small army under perfect control, has not been able to resist the temptation, always strong within him, to fight whenever an opportunity occurred, and upon the assumption that he has yielded to his belligerent instincts, it is believed that Stanley has been overwhelmed as the result of the exasperation of the natives which Tippoo has aroused.

Strong pressure is now being brought to bear upon the government to recognize the unofficial expedition now on the way to Khartoum, which will not likely meet with serious opposition until they arrive at Berber, where the new mahdi's outposts are stationed. These followers of the khalifa are known to be half starved and mutinous, and their desertion of the mahdi and alliance with the expedition, in event of its recognition, is confidently relied upon by the advocates of the government's interference in behalf of the beleaguered whites in interior Africa.

The Pall Mall Gazette, in a strong article, advocates the appointment of Zubeir Pasha to the command of an expedition to search for Stanley, and the suggestion is favored by many persons familiar with the general situation of the African interior.

Rather Significant.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The recent overtures made by Italy to France to reopen negotiations looking toward the conclusion of a commercial treaty between the kingdom and republic are very significant in the view of the late attempt of King John of Abyssinia, to secure the friendship of Russia. The latest drift of continental returns tends toward the estrangement of Russia and France because of the vacillating policy of the latter country, and the growing belief of the former that her desires and ambitions may be achieved without the assistance or even the moral support of France.

Italy, having become one of the triple alliance, cannot reasonably look toward Russia for favors, and naturally turns to France to help her out in her Red sea complications, while King John, having vainly endeavored to interest France in his behalf during his struggle to prevent Italy from seizing his most valuable part and contiguous territory, now fawns upon Russia. Continental politicians are in no way chary of expressing the opinion that France has delayed too long in giving assent to an alliance with Russia, which everybody knew long ago as well as it is known now, was especially desired by the republic, but which French statesmen hoped to delay long enough to bring about some manifestation on the part of Russia, making it appear that the compact was sought by the czar.

The time has gone by when such an alliance present advantages to Russia, warranting her turning her back upon Germany absolutely, and the present effort of Italy to arrive at a more definite understanding commercially and incidentally in other ways with France will doubtless be successful. Meanwhile the curiosity of the continent has been excited by the new move of King John particularly in view of the notice given by Italy of her permanent occupation of Massowah, to observe what degree of assistance, if any, the czar will give the Abyssinian monarch to avert further seizures in his dominions.

Bismarck Conciliates the Pope.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The emperor will visit the pope immediately upon his arrival in Rome, before going to the Quirinal, in order not to offend the pope.

A dispatch from Rome to the Chronicle says Emperor William will stay at the Quirinal during his sojourn here, and will hold receptions at the German embassy. Prince Bismarck has sent a long dispatch to the Vatican explaining why the meeting between Emperor William and King Humbert was arranged to be held in Rome. The excuse will hardly be deemed sufficient by Mr. Windhorst and his following of German clericals, since when all is said it is a recognition by Germany of the sovereignty of the Italian government in Rome, and an assurance that, in any issue between King Humbert and the pope, Germany would incline to Humbert.

The Danes Want Schleswig-Holstein. COPENHAGEN, Aug. 1.—Emperor William embarked at 10:30 o'clock to-day and left at 12:30 o'clock. He goes directly to Berlin, visiting Prince Bismarck early next week.

The Dagblad says that Emperor William must not be allowed to believe that the Danes have renounced the hope of obtaining the restoration of Schleswig-Holstein. These are the chestnuts which Austria helped Prussia to take out of the fire and appropriate. The Danes regarded the operation of her two powerful neighbors as a wholly unjustifiable robbery. The intimation is that should France engage Germany and Russia Austria the Danes would make a strike for their lost provinces.

Foreign Notes.

Mr. William O'Brien's action for libel against the Cork Constitution was decided in favor of the plaintiff. Mr. O'Brien sued for $25,000 damages. The jury awarded him $500.

Mayor McHugh, of Sligo, has been tried and convicted of the charge of publishing boycotting notices in his newspaper, the Sligo Champion. He is sentenced to four months' imprisonment.

Prince Bismarck has been appointed honorary master of the Berlin guild of tailors, as a mark of gratitude for his services in behalf of German unity and his efforts to improve the condition of the artisan classes. One hundred and twenty members of the chamber of deputies Monday signed a memorial requesting that a meeting of the French and English commoners be arranged to be held in Paris on October 23, in order to stimulate public feeling in favor of French, English and American arbitration. M. Clemenceau supports the movement.
